THE SKY IS FALLING!

Marbles of Insight

This bag of marbles was given to you by the little girl Jezabel who you helped repair her family's cart.

The bag appears to hold ordinary marbles. However, after being carried for 24 hours, the marbles offer the owner an insight bonus to Intelligence based on the ATL in which the PC was awarded. At the conclusion of each combat encounter, there is a chance to "lose one's marbles" equal to the number of combats the PC have played since acquiring them. Roll percentile dice. If the result is equal to or less than the percentage chance, then the PC has lost his/her marbles. (ex. The PC has played 10 combat encounters since acquiring the marbles, thus on a roll of a 1-10 he would lose some.) The first time the PC loses his marbles, he loses +1 to his insight bonus. This continues until the insight bonus reaches 0, and then the PC incurs an insight penalty to Intelligence (equal to the original bonus) for the remainder of that adventure. At the conclusion of that adventure, the penalty is removed as the marbles lose all magical properties and become normal for all intent and purposes.

- ATL 1-7: +2 Insight Bonus (value 10,000gp)
- ATL 9-13: +4 Insight Bonus (value 40,000gp)
- ATL 15-19: +6 Insight Bonus (value 90,000gp)

Portable Wheel

This appears to be a wooden spoked wheel about 6 inches in diameter given to you by Oliver for helping him leave the city. When the command word is spoken, the wheel can be sized to expand as large as 6 feet in diameter (15, 20 HP, break DC 35). If used as a replacement wheel on a wagon or cart, there is a 5% chance in which it will shrink back down to normal size upon hitting a bump or pothole in the road. The wheel can be used continuously for 24 hours before it reverts to normal. It then must be inactive for the same amount of time before it can be used again.
