THAT SINKING FEELING

Penguin Armor

Penguin Armor – This armor is pieced together penguins skins, with feathers. If the wearer has no swim speed, the armor allows them to swim at their normal movement rate (instead of half as per the swim skill). The armor does not grant the wearer an actual swim speed as aquan creatures have. If the wearer does actually have a swim speed (i.e.: aquan creatures), then their swim speed is increased by 10 feet. Further, the colorings of the armor match a penguins – the front of the armor is white, white the back and arms are black. The armor is similar to studded leather armor in that it has an armor bonus of 3, a maximum Dexterity bonus of +5, an arcane spell failure chance of 15%, and armor check penalty of -1. It is considered light armor and weighs 20 pounds.
