There Is Only One Way

Chicken of Rat Slaying

The Krimpach family was attempting to come up with a self-sufficient means of controlling the rat population of the poor district. The idea was to create through magic a low cost creature that could provide food as well as destroy rats. As a thanks for your recent work, Lady Tiffany has passed this on to you.

Chicken of rat slaying stats:

1 HD creature (4 HP), AC 12, +0 on beak attack unless against a 1 HD or lower rat. In that case, the chicken becomes a raging beast and destroys the rat immediately. It also produces delicious eggs.

Flying Squirrel Suit

(armor)

The Krimpach family was attempting to come up with a new form of aerial travel. Taking a clue from nature, the research was started and this suit was the finished product. The suit was based on the flying squirrel, but didn't work quite right. Lady Tiffany has passed this on to you.

The Flying Squirrel suit provides you with flight up to 10 rounds at one time, usable twice daily. The activation is to don the suit and start the tail spinning with a DC 5 Acrobatics check. As the tails starts spinning, you are lifted by the tail region and start flying at a movement speed of 45 ft. per round. The first round of movement will be straight up 20 feet and forward as far as 30 feet. The way to stop is by grabbing the tail (DC 15 Acrobatics check) or the end of 10 rounds. At which time, you will plummet back to the ground. The suit will not fly below 10 feet high.

Helm of Tackling

(head)

In an attempt to create a helmet that would assist in demolitions, the Krimpach family used alchemy to design this helmet. The curved head and grated mouth piece are formed from an extremely hard material of unknown substance. Padding was added to prevent the wearer from brain damage. Being unable to duplicate the item, it has not been used in its original planned application. Lady Tiffany has passed it on to you.

The helmet is white with a blue stripe down the middle. It provides a +1 non-magical AC bonus. When used in a bull rush attempt, the helmet grants the wearer an additional +5 to the bull rush attempt.

Cushion of Wind

This bladder like item was created to provide wind for sailors when the sea winds died. Unfortunately, the Krimpach family members that were working on this had a disagreement. Lady Tiffany has passed this on to you.

This item, when squeezed or sat on, produces a Stinking Cloud, as per the spell at a 8th level caster. Everyone, including the activator of the item, must make a Fortitude save, DC 15 to prevent being nauseated. The cloud affects a 25 foot radius area. It also leaves a lingering smell on everyone in the area, even those who succeed at the save. This smell causes a -2 on all Charisma checks until the person can wash and change clothes or use some other means of removing the smell.

Towel of Hiding

This two-sided, hooded towel has several uses. Originally created by the Krimpach family to be used as a quick way to dry small, wiggly children, the towel was discovered to be just an ordinary towel for this activity. However, it does have other benefits. Lady Tiffany has passed it on to you.

When the grey side of the hooded towel is worn over the head, it provides a +5 on Stealth checks. When the reverse side is donned over the head, the brightly colored flame red, periwinkle blue, hot pink, iridescent orange, sunshine yellow, lime green and lavender swirly print provides an excellent source of laughter for all around, a +5 bonus to Perform Comedy checks.

Cloak of Billowing

(shoulders)

The Krimpach family was attempting to make a better Charisma enhancement device. There are some things that should be left alone. Lady Tiffany has passed it on to you.

This bright red cloak has a yellow star in the centered in the back. To activate the cloak, you must place your hands on your hips and tip your head upward. At that time, a bright light will shine from behind you and the cloak will billow out behind you, as if a slight breeze is stirring the cloak. This provides a +1 morale bonus to any ally that sees you activate it. While wearing the activated cloak, you also receive a +5 to Intimidate checks.
